We are constantly searching for, and developing solutions that would satisfy our customers' needs in the areas of product development and software solutions. Our system of comprehensively designed solutions and our life-cycle orientation ensure a long-term partnership.

Our innovative software solutions and products will bring you a competitive advantage, irrelevant of the industry you operate in.

AREAS OF WORK

- Central monitoring systems and support tools
- Customized software solutions
- IT consulting, design, system integration, technical support and education

We develop solutions using reliable, state-of-the-art development processes. We offer agile approach used in software development that enables rational business processes, visibility, the required quality, and permanent contact with our customers.

Our expert consultation and education in the IT field will help you to easily overcome any problems faced during the introduction and usage of the high-tech know-how within your company.

We have clear visions and goals. The quality and recognition of our products and solutions are constantly in line within market standards.

EMPLOYEES

Our employees are highly skilled experts with in-depth international experience in the IT field. They permanently upgrade and update their knowledge bases. We follow the trends in IT development and successfully apply this knowledge to our own development processes.

CUSTOMERS

The IT field is interspersing more and more with other fields of human activity, so our customers represent diverse areas of IT application: we deal with high-tech product manufacturers, security and telecommunication companies, energy utilities, as well as Universities.

PARTNERS

Our partners are well-established and recognized domestic and international companies providing expert services and high-tech products in their fields. We are always seeking new partner companies in order to ensure the best possible solutions for our customers.

In order to enable our customers to keep in contact with well established and reliable practices, we closely cooperate with Institutes, Faculties, and entrepreneur incubators.

WHY CHOOSE AGILEON ?

We provide key advantages to our customers:

- Strengthened user-orientation for our software solutions
- Competitiveness of our products
- Development of new products, updates and upgrades of existing products
- Assured comprehensive and continuous support for those products within our portfolio
- Continuous monitoring of product quality through whole product's lifecycle

We always adjust our development process to customer requirements and permanently seek the best possible solutions for particular problems: in those cases needing special requirements, we are capable of building our solutions using the already-applied technology within a customer's infrastructure or using those open-source solutions that are quite often the best possible alternative to commercial and more expensive solutions. The key to our success is identifying proper solutions at the right time. Agileon is a company which does not set itself limits. We are always confident that we can ensure competitive products and offer solutions by keeping in permanent contact with our customers and partners. We listen to your requirements and seek the best possible solutions for your problems in close cooperation with you. Our products are designed in a way that expenses relating to the introduction of our products, their operation and maintenance are clearly foreseeable.
